UNIVERSITY OF MARY WASHINGTON Mission Statement

The University of Mary Washington is one of Virginia's outstanding public liberal arts universities, providing a superior education that inspires and enables our students to make positive changes in the world.

The University is a place where faculty, students, and staff share in the creation and exploration of knowledge through freedom of inquiry, personal responsibility, and service. UMW offers a wide range of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs, with opportunities for students to engage in disciplinary and interdisciplinary studies, to conduct research, to integrate and apply their knowledge within broad educational experiences, to develop their professional interests, and practice the habits of mind necessary for life-long learning.

UMW's size, dedicated faculty, and historical commitment to fine teaching create an institutional culture where both undergraduate and graduate students benefit from strong connections with their faculty and multiple opportunities for active learning.

Located in Fredericksburg, between our nation's capital and the capital of the Commonwealth of Virginia, the University of Mary Washington is a nexus for engagement among diverse communities and is dedicated to improving the regional quality of life.

We fulfill our mission by immersing students, faculty, and staff in local, regional, national, and international communities, and by inculcating the values of honor and integrity. UMW graduates are models of adaptive learning, personal achievement, responsible leadership, service to others, and engaged citizenship in a global and diverse society.

– Approved by the University of Mary Washington
Rector and Board of Visitors, November 20, 2009

The center's most important goal is to enhance students' educational experiences at UMW by increasing awareness and knowledge of diversity issues that impact the individual and the community; these include cultural, ethnic, intellectual, and social issues.

Because of its belief that being engaged is important, the James Farmer Multicultural Center supports underrepresented students and organizations with an ethnic focus. Degree-seeking undergraduate students are assigned a Woodard Campus Center mailbox, which is shared with another student; BLS students are not assigned campus mailboxes. The campus post office is one of UMW's official modes of communication, so mail sent to a student's assigned box is considered proper and adequate notification for university business. It is the student's responsibility to check this box regularly.

Residence Life – Marye House; 540/654-1058

The goal of the Residence Life staff is to provide a supportive environment in which students can develop the skills and abilities needed for leadership, citizenship, and personal responsibility. This is done through intentional programming, meaningful interactions, and experiential opportunities. The two-year on-campus residency requirement facilitates an enhanced academic experience and the development of lifelong friendships through on-campus living. A successful residential experience depends upon each resident's acceptance of personal and collective responsibility and learning how each person's actions impact themselves and fellow students. Students should regularly check the Residence Life website to keep in touch with deadlines and important information. umw.edu/residencelife

Simpson Library – 540/654-1125

With its individual desks, study carrels, and lounge areas, Simpson Library is not only an excellent place to read and study, but it also provides the perfect setting to work with class groups and get help with assignments. Do you need information for a short essay – or even a lengthy term paper? How about ideas for an in-class presentation or speech? Reference librarians can assist students with research projects and provide expert advice on using the Library's online catalog, periodical databases, and its numerous other resources.

These librarians are subject specialists, and professors often ask them to conduct instruction sessions for individual courses. These classes give you the opportunity to know the librarian in your field; you can even make appointments for one-on-one assistance!

Simpson Library has almost 400,000 volumes and more than 63,000 electronic books. Many of its hundreds of electronic databases provide access to full-text articles in thousands of publications (and furnish millions of articles).

Want to take a break from studying? Simpson Library has a popular reading section, as well as an extensive collection of movies. But most important, it has a friendly and knowledgeable staff ready to answer questions (and probably calm a few nerves at the same time). To manage your Library account and for details on services, hours, borrowing privileges, and other useful information, see the Library's website at umw.edu/library.

Office of Student Activities and Community Service – Seacobeck Hall, 540/654-1061

Note: Any campus emergency phone connects to the emergency line.

The goal of the University Police Office is to provide a safe and secure living, working, and learning environment. The office provides protection to the UMW community, enforces rules and regulations, and aids in promoting safety and order on campus. Officers have the authority to arrest both on and off campus for violations of the Code of the Commonwealth of Virginia, as well as administratively refer students for violations of UMW policy. Crimes on campus may be called in or reported anonymously through the Silent Witness Program available on the Police website.

UMW Police offer a free Rape Aggression Defense (RAD) basic self-defense program. To enroll, contact University Police.

Safety Escort Service is provided, upon request, by stopping by University Police in Brent House, via use of a campus emergency phone, or by calling the University Police non-emergency number, 540/654-1025.

Parking regulations and registration information for vehicles and bicycles is available at Brent House and at umw.edu/police. To aid in snow removal, certain Snow Emergency Areas are designated on campus; no car may park there when there is a threat of inclement winter weather. Cars left in those spaces and that impede snow and/or ice removal may be towed.

Lost and found is administered by University Police. Lost items submitted to lost and found may be claimed by the owner. Items will be held for 60 days and then forwarded to the University Storeroom for inclusion in auctions or sales of property.

Writing Center – Trinkle Hall, Room 107A; 540/654-1036

COMMUNITY Standards

Students at the University of Mary Washington have a right to a community that is conducive to academic success, personal growth, and safety. By providing expectations for appropriate and responsible behavior (the Code of Conduct), and by having mechanisms in place to respond when the community's standards may have been violated, UMW seeks to maintain a balance between the rights of individual community members and the rights of the community as a whole.

UMW's Code of Conduct is described in detail at umw.edu/judicialaffairs/system/code_conduct111.php. Listed below are highlights from the code, and other community standards important to life and learning at UMW.

- UMW students are expected to uphold a community that does not tolerate any discriminatory act, causing an intimidating or hostile environment, that is based on actual or perceived race, color, religion, disability, national origin, political affiliation, marital status, sexual orientation, gender, or age.

Overview

"Freedom of thought and expression is essential to any institution of higher learning. Universities and colleges exist not only to transmit knowledge. Equally, they interpret, explore, and expand that knowledge testing the old and proposing the new. This mission guides learning outside the classroom quite as much as in class, and often inspires vigorous debate on those social, economic, and political issues that may arouse the strongest passions. In the process, views will be expressed that may seem to many wrong, distasteful or offensive. Such is the nature of the freedom to sift and winnow ideas." (On Freedom of Expression and Campus Speech Codes, statement approved by the AAAUP Committee A on Academic Freedom and Tenure in 1992 and adopted by the Council in November 1994).

What is a Bias Offense?

A bias offense is any act that is based on actual or perceived race, color, religion, disability, national origin, political affiliation, marital status, sexual orientation, gender, veteran status, or age that creates an intimidating and/or hostile educational, living, or working environment by unreasonably and substantially interfering with an individual's or group's safety, security, work, or academic performance. Acts include language and/or behaviors. Bias offenses may result in serious sanctions or disciplinary action.

What should be done if a bias offense occurs?

1. Report the alleged offense as soon as possible to the University Police on the Fredericksburg campus. On the Stafford campus, report the incident to the police officer or security personnel on duty.
2. If possible, do not touch or disturb any physical evidence related to the offense. Police/security will document what happened, including where and when the incident occurred.
3. Police/security will conduct independent investigations for violations of criminal law. After the police have collected evidence, the appropriate university personnel will remove such remnants as graffiti and/or they will repair any damage to university property.
4. Complete the university's Bias Incident Response Form at umw.edu/bias/report/form.
 - a. UMW urges all members of the university community to promptly report all bias offenses using this form.
 - b. Only UMW students, faculty, and staff with a valid UMW network user ID and password may use this form.
 - c. A PDF version of this form is available for download and/or print and can be submitted to the AA/EEO Officer in the Office of Human Resources in Fairfax House.
 - d. Knowingly falsifying a report is a violation of this policy and the Honor Code, which may result in disciplinary action under university policy.
5. The report will be reviewed and followed up on promptly by a designated staff member, who will contact the reporting person (if the information is provided) to explore a plan for resolution and provide information about related university policies, procedures, and services. Reports and follow ups will be treated confidentially and shared only as needed. Bias incident data will be used to develop community educational and outreach programs.

UMW's Bias and Incident Reporting Policy is also located at umw.edu/bias.

- Violence, threats, intimidation, or harassment are not tolerated at UMW.

Regardless of whether it is sexual or non-sexual in nature, violence, threats, intimidation, pranks, or any actions which interfere with the rights of any member of the University community, or any guest of the community, are prohibited.

Sexual Misconduct Policy

UMW does not tolerate sexual misconduct in any form. Sexual misconduct includes (but is not limited to) rape, stalking, and other forms of intimidation or sexual assault, when they occur either by force, threat, intimidation, or when the survivor is physically or mentally unaware, or is unable to provide consent -- including when she or he is incapacitated by alcohol and/or other drugs. These are serious violations of the Mary Washington Statement of Community Values and constitute violations of University regulations, which are punishable through the judicial system.

An unfortunate outcome of sexual misconduct is that survivors often remain silent. Because many times the act is perpetrated by a trusted acquaintance, the survivor might not recognize that he or she has been assaulted. Or, the survivors may feel that they are responsible for the assault, or that they will be blamed in some way for what happened. The University of Mary Washington recognizes the need to be responsive to the problem of sexual assault on campus and is committed to providing programs/services that are educational, preventive, or remedial in nature. The goal is to increase awareness and educate the entire campus community, as well as to provide an environment which assists the survivor in the recovery process.

The University recognizes the importance of professionally trained staff and encourages participation in training in sexual assault issues on an annual basis. Judicial Affairs, Residence Life, Counseling and Psychological Services, Health Center, and University Police staffs, in particular, are prepared to respond appropriately in the event of a student assault. They are trained regarding the prevalence of sexual assault, how and where it happens, its impact on the victim, the role of alcohol and drugs, and appropriate actions to be taken when an assault occurs.

University Police: Students are encouraged to report sexual misconduct to University Police and may do so anonymously, even if they do not wish to press charges. A student may do this, even if he or she is not the survivor; this provides awareness of campus crimes and helps focus prevention efforts. If the student decides to pursue criminal charges, University Police will take a report, provide information about the procedure for criminal prosecution, and coordinate meetings with the local Commonwealth Attorney and Victim Assistance Director. Police will investigate and provide necessary referrals to campus and/or local agencies. University Police is located in Brent House and is available 24 hours a day at 540/654-4444 (emergency) or 540/654-1025 (non-emergency).

Dean of Student Life/Judicial Affairs: The Dean of Student Life, Director of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility, or designee will provide information to the survivor about options for pursuing a charge against the assailant through the university judicial process. The Dean of Student Life will work with the Director of Residence Life to provide options to modify living arrangements if the student and accused live in the same residence hall or in close proximity. A "no contact" order may be issued to help ensure the victim is not harassed by the alleged assailant, and to minimize further contact between the two individuals. The Dean of Student Life Office and the Office of Judicial Affairs are located in Marye House. The former can be reached at 540/654-1200 or studentlife@umw.edu. The latter can be reached at 540/654-1660 or rtuttle@umw.edu.

Residence Life: Resident Assistants (RA) and Head Residents (HR) live in residence halls and have a close connection to their hall community. Student residents often first report an act of sexual misconduct to an RA or HR. Student staff members are required to notify a professional Residence Life staff member so the reporting student can receive the best assistance in obtaining necessary services. Residence Life is located in Marye House and can be reached at 540/654-1058 or rlif@umw.edu.

Health Center: For immediate medical attention, a student may be taken to the UMW Health Center during operating hours or to the Mary Washington Hospital Emergency Room. If the student wishes to have physical evidence collected for possible prosecution, the exam must be performed at the emergency room by trained S.A.N.E. (Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner) nurses at no cost to the student. The Health Center is located in Lee Hall, room 112, and can be reached at 540/654-1040 or hctr-info@umw.edu.

Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS): CAPS can provide support as the student deals with the emotional and psychological impacts of the incident, assist in decision-making regarding the reporting of the incident, help in the handling of academic commitments, etc. CAPS can provide follow-up services or help the student connect with additional resources, and can also provide emotional support and assistance to friends of the survivor. CAPS is located in Lee Hall, room 106, and can be reached at 540/654-1053.

Rappahannock Council Against Sexual Assault (RCASA): A Fredericksburg-area non-profit agency that specializes in providing services and treatment for victims of sexual assault, as well as their families, friends, and partners. RCASA is available 24 hours a day at 540/371-1666, and their email address is info@rcasa.org.

UMW community members may also report alleged violations to the AA/EEO Officer in Human Resources (Fairfax House; 540/654-1046) if the alleged assailant is a faculty or staff member or a University contractor.

More information about UMW's Sexual Misconduct Policy can be found at umw.edu/judicialaffairs/sexual_misconduct and umw.edu/judicialaffairs/sexual_misconduct/sexual_assault_brochure.php.

Sexual Harassment Policy

The University of Mary Washington will not tolerate sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and as such is illegal behavior. Sexual harassment is distinguished from consenting sexual behavior by the introduction of the element of coercion. Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when: 1. Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment [or education]. 2. Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions [or educational decisions] affecting such individual. 3. Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work [or academic or extracurricular] performance or of creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working [or educational] environment. Students who believe they have been sexually harassed by another student are encouraged to report the harassment to the Dean of Student Life (Marye House; 540/654-1200) or the Director of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility (Marye House; 540/654-1660), who can present the student with options for addressing the situation. For more information about UMW's Sexual Harassment Policy, including about options for reporting if the harasser is a faculty or staff member, please go to umw.edu/policies/sexual_harassment/policy.

- UMW students must not engage in behaviors which could endanger their health or safety, or the health or safety of other members of the UMW community.

- UMW prohibits the hazing of any individual, even if the individual gave voluntary consent.

UMW prohibits hazing, defined as any physical or mental interference, request, or obligation that could cause inconvenience, discomfort, pain, fright, embarrassment, disgrace, or injury; that is personally degrading; or that violates federal, state, or local statutes or UMW policy. Whether or not the student so endangered or injured or put in the position to be so endangered or injured voluntarily participates in the activity is not a factor in determining if the activity was hazing. The full Hazing Policy is located at umw.edu/judicialaffairs/hazing_policy.

- UMW students are expected to respect all property, whether it belongs to the University, other members of the UMW community, or members of surrounding communities. Damage to, or unauthorized relocation of property is prohibited, as is misuse of UMW's computers, telephones, and networks.

Misuse of University Computers, Networks, or Telephones:

UMW provides services that allow for the appropriate use of technology in the pursuit of academic achievement and personal use. Please review the following:

1. Network and Computer Use Policy: umw.edu/policies/network/use
2. Responsibility for Computing Devices Connected to the UMW Network: umw.edu/policies/network/devices
3. Users must not illegally download or distribute, including via peer-to-peer file sharing, copyrighted material.

IT Security: UMW regards security of its information resources as an institutional priority and maintains an information technologies security program overseen by the Information Security Officer. Students with questions about IT security should call the IT Help Desk at 654-2255.

- If you need assistance in accessing your account, and /or in correcting a problem, please contact the IT Help Desk at helpdesk@umw.edu or at 540-654-2255.

Accessing the University Network with Your Computer: To help protect the wireless network from misuse or viruses, students are required to use Cisco's "Clean Access" to access the Internet or network in all non-residential buildings. You will be prompted to download and install this software when it is required, and it will verify that your system is patched with the latest system and anti-virus updates. Once verification is complete, your computer will be able to fully utilize the local network and UMW's Internet connection.

Residence Halls: UMW partners with Apogee Inc. to provide quality network assistance to on-campus residents. Assistance is available at apogeenet.net or by calling 877/478-8808. Apogee Inc.'s End-User Agreement is available 24/7 at apogeenet.net/pdf/apogee_eua.pdf. Note that the use of non-Apogee routers and the downloading of illegal content may result in termination of one's internet service.

- Fire safety equipment must not be tampered with or needlessly used, and fire safety regulations must be obeyed.

For the safety of the UMW community, tampering with or needlessly discharging fire extinguishers is strictly prohibited, as is tampering with alarms, smoke detectors, and other fire safety equipment. Arson/setting fire in any University building or on campus is a serious violation of community standards. Also, open flames from oil lamps, candles, incense, hookahs, etc. are prohibited. Students must vacate a University building during a fire alarm.

- Unauthorized entry or remaining on or in UMW property without permission is prohibited.

For more information, visit umw.edu/judicialaffairs/unauthorized_entry.

- Students must abide by the UMW Motor Vehicle Policy and Regulations.

Parking Policy

Pedestrian and vehicular traffic must not be obstructed. UMW assumes no liability for the protection of any vehicle or its contents. Regulations are enforced 24 hours per day, year round. Note: An after-dark safety escort is available to students. Students may request this service by calling University Police at 540/654-1025 or by using an emergency or blue light campus phone.

All regulations apply equally to faculty, staff, students, and visitors, including contractors, and vendors unless otherwise specified. The registered owner of the vehicle will be held responsible for any violation of the "Motor Vehicle Policy and Regulations." Vehicle registration forms, decals, and violation notices are official UMW documents. The University reserves the right to change any or all of these policies and regulations as necessary. Up-to-date information on parking regulations and restrictions, as well as vehicle (defined as anything motor-powered) registration is listed at umw.edu/police/vehicle.

- Underage students are not allowed to possess or consume alcohol, nor is any student, regardless of age, allowed to be intoxicated.

UMW endeavors to ensure alcohol consumed on campus is handled maturely, responsibly, and in conformity with the law. Per the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia, persons younger than 21 years old are not to purchase, consume, or possess alcoholic beverages; a person older than 21 years old may not obtain alcoholic beverages for a person younger than 21 years old. Of-age students may possess and consume alcoholic beverages in upper-class residence halls, except as otherwise noted. No alcohol may be consumed in hall spaces outside of the room. "Possession" includes circumstances in which alcohol is on one's person or in one's residence hall room. No person of a legal age to possess or drink alcohol may bring alcohol into any first-year residence hall or into a room in which the residents are younger than 21 years old. Staff members who reside in a first-year hall and are of the legal age to possess and consume alcohol are allowed to bring alcoholic beverages into their rooms.

UMW prohibits intoxication by students of any age. Intoxication may be determined by instrumentation, or by behavioral or physical manifestations. Any student under the age of 21 with a blood alcohol level of 0.02 percent or higher will be considered to be intoxicated. No alcoholic beverages may be consumed in public at UMW, nor may open containers of alcoholic beverages be transported in public spaces. No alcoholic beverages are permitted at athletic competitions.

UMW also does not permit items - such as beer bong, kegs, beer balls, etc. - or activities - such as alcohol drinking games - that can create a high-risk drinking environment.

UMW has obtained or can obtain Virginia Alcohol Beverage Commission (VA ABC) licensing for the sale or service of alcoholic beverages, including at the Campus center, the Underground, and the Kalen Inn. Only beer can be sold on campus by UMW Dining Services or other agents of UMW. Beer and wine are the only alcoholic beverages that may be served at functions where no admission is charged. Beer must be served only in bottles or cans at functions where students are present.

No alcohol is allowed at an event sponsored by a UMW student organization. No organization funding, whether from the university finance committee or raised as revenue, may be used to purchase alcohol.

Parental Notification:

Federal law allows UMW to notify parents or legal guardians if a student under the age of 21 has:

- Been found responsible for a major alcohol violation, including intoxication, or has endangered the health and safety of self or others
- Been found responsible for a second or subsequent minor alcohol violation
- Incurred medical conditions as a result of an alcohol-related incident

A letter and/or phone call from the Dean of Student Life or designee will inform the parent or guardian. More detail about the University's alcohol policies is located at umw.edu/judicialaffairs/alcohol_policy.

- Illegal drugs are strictly prohibited at the University of Mary Washington.

UMW does not tolerate the use, possession, manufacture, merchandizing, or sale of illegal drugs or misuse of prescription medication on or in UMW property or at a UMW sponsored event. Violation of these policies will result in expulsion from the university. The Higher Education Opportunity Act (HEOA) enacted in 2008 reauthorizes the Higher Education Act (HEA) of 1965, as amended. These laws state that any student who has been convicted of any Federal or State law involving the possession or sale of a controlled substance shall not be eligible to receive any grant, loan, or work assistance during the period beginning on the date of such conviction and ending after the interval specified below. More detail about the HEOA and the University's Drug Policy is located at umw.edu/judicialaffairs/drug_policies.

 3. Policies concerning quiet hours or courtesy hours
 4. Playing sports in the residence halls
 5. Unsanitary, cluttered, or obstructive conditions in residence hall rooms and public areas
- For additional information, please contact Residence Life (Marye House) at 540/654-1058.

- Students must abide by the directives of University officials.

It is the student's responsibility to respond immediately to any of the following directives or requests from a university official who is enforcing university policies or procedures:

1. Identify oneself
2. Come to the office of an official
3. Leave a gathering when asked to disperse
4. Any other reasonable request

University officials include, but are not limited to, UMW administrators and faculty, UMW police, Honor Council members, and Judicial Review Board members.

University officials have the right to stop and question any person entering the residence halls to determine his or her purpose for being there.

Please refer to umw.edu/judicialaffairs/directives_from_university for more information.

- Students must comply with the University's judicial processes.

No student shall disrupt, unfairly influence, or obstruct the judicial process. This includes, but is not limited to:

1. Attempting to influence, intimidate, and/or threaten anyone involved in the judicial process.
2. Becoming disorderly or obscene during any point in the judicial process.
3. Failing to cooperate with the judicial process or comply with its sanctions.

Failure to comply with a sanction could result in further judicial action and could result in an administrative hold being placed on the student's academic record. This hold prevents registration for classes and the transmission of official grade reports and transcripts.

- The Honor Code prohibits lying, cheating, and stealing.

"The Honor System is fundamentally a code of personal integrity. It means that students of the University of Mary Washington accept the challenge to make their word of honor a pledge of absolute truthfulness in all matters that fall within the Honor Code. It is a commitment to a way of life characterized by loyalty to the highest ideals of individual and collective ethical responsibility." – Dr. Edward Alvey, Jr., Dean Emeritus

The violations of the Honor Code are lying, cheating, and stealing, defined as:

1. Lying – a deliberate misrepresentation of the truth. For example, forgery and the falsification or misuse of the student's identification card by using another's card, or by allowing another to use one's card.
2. Cheating – an intentional misrepresentation of another's work as one's own, or a misrepresentation of the circumstances under which the work was done. For example, copying, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, and unauthorized divulging of information.
3. Stealing – the taking of the property of another person, the university, or any other entity, without authorization or consent. For example, the theft or mutilation of library materials, and the unauthorized duplication of a university key.

All students shall write out in full and sign the following pledge on all quizzes, examinations, papers, and other assignments as appropriate:

"I hereby declare upon my word of honor that I have neither given nor received unauthorized help on this work."

This pledge verifies that the work submitted is the student's own and has been done in accordance with the requirements of the instructor.

The Honor System is student-run and is distinct from the judicial system. For more information about the Honor System or the Honor Council, please visit umw.edu/studentaffairs/umw_honor_system.

JUDICIAL POLICIES AND Procedures

UMW's judicial system plays a central role in upholding the university's Code of Conduct. It adjudicates alleged violations of the Code of Conduct with fairness and impartiality, holding students accountable for their behavior with an emphasis on educational sanctioning and support.

Violations of civil or criminal law are subject to prosecution, in cases where the interests of the university may be affected, as judged by proper authorities to be the case. Disciplinary action may also be taken by UMW in these cases.

The University also has jurisdiction, notwithstanding the location of the offense, to immediately suspend a student for any major violation of state or federal criminal law for which the student has been convicted. For purposes of this section, "major violation" shall mean only felonies or their equivalents and not misdemeanors, traffic violations or their equivalents.

Adjudication of Off-Campus Incidents

Philosophy: The conduct of UMW students away from campus has an impact not just on those students involved, but also on UMW peers and on members of the greater Fredericksburg community. Holding students accountable, through the judicial system, for off-campus conduct (resulting in arrest or citation) is a standard process in higher education resulting in positive learning outcomes for students and favorable town-gown relationships.

UMW's judicial process is an educational tool to support student learning and is intended to perpetuate life skills and citizenship through accountability on the grounds of the University community.

Off-Campus Adjudication Policy

Jurisdiction: Geographic jurisdiction includes any violation of the UMW Code of Conduct occurring on campus or university leased or controlled properties, in study abroad programs, at any UMW-related event, and in Spotsylvania County or the City of Fredericksburg that substantially impacts the educational mission of the university.

Process: UMW will adjudicate off-campus violations when the conduct has an equivalent in the Code of Conduct. For example, if a student is arrested or cited for DIP, he or she could be charged with violating UMW's policy related to alcohol intoxication. If a student is charged with public urination, he or she could be charged with violating UMW's policy related to disorderly conduct. This information will come to the University through official police communication. The incident will be adjudicated by an administrator or by the Judicial Review Board [or Student Conduct Hearing Board] as noted in the Judicial Hearing procedures.

A standard response to off-campus conduct will include the following:

1. Off-campus incidents involving first offenders will be noted for record-keeping purposes.
2. Off-campus incidents involving students who previously have been found responsible for any violation on campus, or who have been previously arrested or cited off campus will be adjudicated through the campus judicial system. (This policy does not apply in minor traffic or parking violations.)

Who is involved with the judicial system?

Both students and staff members play a role in upholding the community's standards and in adjudicating alleged violations of the Code of Conduct. Some of these participants include:

- Judicial Affairs – The Office of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility (Marye House; 540/654-1660) coordinates UMW's judicial processes, and its director serves as an administrative hearing officer.
- Student Conduct Hearing Board – Convened by the Office of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility, this board hears alleged violations of the university's Drug Policy, Sexual Misconduct Policy, and Sexual Harassment Policy.
- Judicial Review Board (JRB) – Advised by the Office of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility, this hearing board is comprised of a president, vice-president, and elected student members from each class. The JRB is located in Mercer Hall and can be reached at 540/654-1142.
- Residence Life – Staff members confront alleged violations, and professional staff members serve as administrative hearing officers.
- In many cases, accused students will be able to choose between a hearing with the JRB or with a Residence Life administrator. Incidents involving more serious allegations will be heard by the Director of Judicial Affairs or by the Student Conduct Hearing Board.
- For incidents involving alleged violations of the Code of Conduct on the Stafford campus, the Director of Judicial Affairs (or designee) will serve as the hearing officer, unless the alleged violation is of the Drug, Sexual Misconduct, or Sexual Harassment policies, in which case the Student Conduct Hearing Board shall hear the incident.
- The Dean of Student Life and Vice President for Student Affairs also may serve as administrative hearing officers.
- University Police – Confronts alleged violations, and may arrest students or issue administrative referrals.
- Any alleged violation of a serious nature, or any repeated alleged violations, may result in direct referral to the Office of Judicial Affairs, the Dean of Student Life, or the Vice President of Student Affairs.

Judicial Process Rights and Responsibilities:

An accused student has the following rights with regard to any and all judicial hearings:

1. To request a prior meeting in which judicial process rights and procedures are explained. The University reserves the right to mandate such a meeting.
2. To be informed of all charges prior to a hearing, and to review available incident documentation. (For example, if a student is criminally charged, University Police documentation may not be available. In this case, University Police shall provide a written summary of the documentation that shall be available to the accused student whether the UMW judicial process precedes or follows the resolution of any criminal proceedings.) In addition, documentation that includes information about other students may be redacted.
3. To have a fair and impartial hearing.
4. To be presumed not responsible unless found responsible for any charges. The standard of evidence used in all University hearings is preponderance of evidence. This means that for a student to be found responsible for a charge, the evidence must persuade the hearing officer or board that it is more likely than not that the student was in violation.
5. To name an advisor. The advisor must be willing to assist and advise the student during the hearing. The advisor must be a UMW student, faculty, or staff member who is not also a witness. Accused students are requested to contact the hearing officer/board about the identity of their advisor at least one day prior to the hearing.
6. To be aware of all evidence presented during the hearing, and to be allowed to question all witnesses present at the hearing (with the exception of character witnesses, if applicable, who may speak only to the character of the accused).
7. To request witnesses to speak in the student's defense. The hearing officer or board may limit witnesses or statements deemed repetitious or unnecessary. Accused students should inform the hearing officer or board no less than two business days prior to the hearing as to the identity of their witnesses.
8. To be present at the hearing, except during deliberation, or when other accused students are speaking. A student who does not appear for a hearing is not assumed to be responsible, but the hearing may occur in his or her absence.
9. To plead responsible and to forego a hearing.

10. To have a hearing and to be sanctioned within a reasonable period of time.
11. To be notified in writing of the hearing outcome and of any sanctions issued.
12. To appeal the outcome or the sanction, under certain circumstances.

An accused student has the following responsibilities with regard to any and all judicial hearings:

1. To be on his or her honor.
2. To attend all scheduled conferences and hearings or to notify appropriate parties of conflicts at least three days in advance.
3. To complete any sanctions by stated deadlines.
4. To conduct himself or herself in a civil and respectful manner.

Sanctions

Violations of University policies result in consequences appropriate to the violation. These sanctions can range from a verbal warning to expulsion from the University, depending on the violation. Common sanctions include online alcohol education programs and community restitution hours. Failure to comply with a sanction could result in further judicial action and a hold being placed on a student's academic record, preventing him or her from registering for classes and sending/receiving official grade reports and transcripts.

Appeals

Appeals of judicial hearing decisions may be made only on one or more of the following grounds:

1. Denial of Judicial Process Rights and Responsibilities.
2. New evidence unavailable at the time of the hearing.
3. Sanction deemed too severe for the violation.

In the case of 1 or 2, a new hearing with the appropriate administrator or duly constituted board shall occur if deemed appropriate. In the case of 3, the appropriate administrator or board shall convene to consider the sanction only. In no event shall the second sanction be more severe than the first. Appeal decisions are final. For more information about how to submit an appeal, please go to umw.edu/judicialaffairs/system/judicial_procedures.php#Appeal.

Judicial Record Retention and Privacy

Judicial records are kept in the Office of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility. These records are confidential to the extent allowed by University policy and the law, and the judicial contents of student educational files cannot be shared unless students sign a release permitting the information to be shared with specific individuals or, in the case of a student who is under 21, the eligible parent or legal guardian, except as otherwise stipulated under the University's educational records policies. There are additional exceptions to this policy:

1. Judicial information may be shared with other educational institutions.
2. Judicial information pertaining to repeated or major violations of the drug and alcohol policy may be shared with parents (or other legal guardians). This exception does not apply if the student is 21 years old or over, or can demonstrate that he or she is financially independent.
3. Judicial information may be shared subject to subpoena or other court order.

Judicial information may be shared with other University personnel on a need-to-know basis. For example, the Office of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility will inform the appropriate coach when a student athlete has been charged with a violation of the drug or alcohol policy, and when the incident has been resolved through judicial action. This does not remove any obligation the student athlete may have to inform the coach on his or her own.

Records in the Office of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility are retained in a student's educational file from the time of enrollment at the University of Mary Washington until three years after the student last attended the University. However, in the case of judicial suspensions and expulsions from the University, judicial records are retained indefinitely.

Students are encouraged to keep in mind that potential employers, in addition to graduate institutions, law enforcement, and the military, frequently request judicial information concerning candidates during the hiring or admissions process, and that the University complies with such requests whenever possible.

More information about the Judicial Record Retention and Privacy policy is located at umw.edu/judicialaffairs/system/judicial_record_retention_.php.

Postings and Other Advertisements

The Office of Student Activities and Community Service (OSACS) reviews and stamps fliers, posters, and other items in compliance with the UMW Posting Policy. Items may be posted temporarily on building bulletin boards, outdoor bulletin boards, and/or on tables used for public dining. Specific residence hall programs need permission only from that building's supervisor or assistant director.

For posting on campus, do not use heavy duty tape, nails, heavy staples, or other items that can do permanent damage. No postings may be placed on glass doorways or on hall windows. No advertisement may be larger than 11 x 17 inches. Table tents, folded announcements that are placed on tables, may not exceed 8.5 x 5.5 inches, which is half a standard notebook-sized page; they must be removed every Sunday. If an event is advertised off campus and it is appropriate to restrict the age of participants, this should be noted on posters and/or advertisements. Items for posting must include contact information.

The SGA Election Rules and Procedures Committee will specify where campaign banners will be displayed. None may be posted on a residence hall or in residence hall windows.

UMW may post signs and notices as needed for special events or emergencies.

Spirit Rock

The Spirit Rock represents the spirit of UMW – whether advertising an event, showing spirit, or celebrating a recent victory. Absolutely no profanity or vulgarity is permitted. The Student Code of Conduct applies to the Spirit Rock. Only latex paint is permitted. Freshly painted messages should be allowed to remain in place for 24 hours before repainting.

The Spirit Rock belongs to students, who are ultimately responsible for it. If students dislike a message on the rock, it is their responsibility to repaint it. Questions regarding the Spirit Rock should be addressed to the SGA.

Self-Determination of Community Values

Residence Halls

Residence Life staff members and elected Hall Council members develop guidelines and procedures of governance for living in residence halls that aspire to allow individual freedom, respect for privacy, and personal rights of others in the community.

During the first week of each semester, Residence Life staff will hold a building-wide meeting for each residence hall or residential area. At this meeting, residents may discuss and decide upon rules and regulations of items including, but not limited to, quiet hours and visitation. These agreed-upon guidelines will serve as community standards for that hall or area.

Outside of Residence Halls

The Office of Judicial Affairs and Community Responsibility serves as a consultant to the UMW Student Senate regarding campus community standards and as an advocate for all UMW community members.

Search and Seizure

If UMW authorities have reasonable cause to believe that an incident is interrupting the operation of the university or is violating the welfare of any UMW community member, including possible violations of the UMW Drug Policy, university authorities may inspect a student's room to investigate the situation.

Police: For searches for the purpose of police investigation, a search warrant or consent must be obtained. However, searches without a warrant or consent may occur when a search is conducted under immediate control of the person being arrested, plain view seizures of an illegal item, entering a resident's room in "hot pursuit," and when it is not reasonably possible to obtain a search warrant.

University Authorities: Searches can be granted approval by the Vice President of Student Affairs or designee if just cause exists and may be conducted by professional Residence Life or administrative staff members accompanied by a University Police officer.

Solicitation

Residence Halls may not be used as sales rooms or for storing merchandise. Door-to-door sales in residence halls are not permitted without the permission of the Director of Residence Life or his or her designee.

In other campus locations, outside organizations and student organizations must receive prior approval from OSACS for any sales activity.

Use of the Mary Washington name, logo, and medallion

No person or entity may use the name “Mary Washington College,” “College of Education,” “College of Business,” or “University of Mary Washington” or the logo, medallion, or mascot symbol as part of its title, name, or designation, or in the title or name of any publication or for advertising purposes of items or goods or on a bank account without prior written approval from the Office of Publications, 540/654-1686, umw.edu/design, which is located off campus in the Centre Court office building.

Virginia Freedom of Information Act

All requests for university-related information made under the provisions of the Virginia “Freedom of Information Act” (FOIA) must be directed to the Office of University Relations and Communications. Do this by completing a FOIA request form, which can be found online at umw.edu/policies/foia. Under FOIA, UMW may charge for copying and for search time. For more information, including costs, contact the Office of University Relations and Communications, which is off campus in the Centre Court office building. Reach the office by phone at 540/654-1055.

RESIDENCE LIFE Policies

On-Campus Living Requirement

The University of Mary Washington believes that living on campus is an integral part of a student's complete educational experience; therefore, all full-time students who are admitted as residential students in their first year are required to live on campus for two full academic years.

Exceptions may be made for students who:

- are married
- are 23 years of age or older before the first day of the fall semester.
- have dependent children living with them
- are living with a parent, grandparent or guardian within 30 miles of University of Mary Washington
- have a college endorsed internship, clinical placement, or are student teaching outside the Fredericksburg area (approved by UMW Academic Affairs)
- For reasons other than those listed the applicant must be very specific and extensive in his or her explanation of the significant, uncontrollable, and unforeseen extenuating circumstances that require an exception to be granted (i.e. medical circumstances).

In order to be approved to live off-campus students must submit a housing waiver application to the Office of Residence Life and have their application approved by the UMW Housing Committee. Students should not rely on any information other than a written approval from the UMW Housing Committee in making other living arrangements. The burden is on the student to provide clear and convincing information to prove they fall within the exceptions stated above.

Air conditioners: Individual room air conditioning units are prohibited, with the exception of those used by Residence Life staff and individuals who have approval from the Office of Residence Life. If you have a documented medical condition and require air conditioning, the form can be obtained from the Residence Life Office and through the website at umw.edu/residencelife/forms.

Beds: Residence halls have both standard twin (75-inches long) and extra long twin (80-inches long) mattresses. Limited space is available for storing bed frames when they are moved to accommodate lofts (see "Lofts," p. 28 for more information). Each student resident is responsible for returning the bed frame to the room prior to checking out at the end of the academic year or if moving from the room during the year.

Break housing: Students are permitted to remain in campus housing during Fall Break. Limited housing is available in traditional housing and the UMW Apartments during Thanksgiving and Spring Break. Students requiring housing for special circumstances must apply for it with the Office of Residence Life two weeks in advance of the dates needed. Eagle Landing does not close during break periods and Eagle Landing residents do not need to apply to remain during those time periods.

Check-out: Residents must remove all their belongings from their rooms/apartments 24 hours after their last exam or no later than the posted closing time, whichever is earlier. Graduating seniors may occupy their rooms until 10 a.m. on the day after graduation. Residents of Eagle Landing who are on a 12-month contract should refer to their contract addendum for check-out time and date.

Commercial enterprises: No business may be conducted in the residence halls without written approval from the Dean of Student Life or his or her designee. The presence of any promoter, vendor, or unauthorized visitor should be reported to Residence Life staff and/or University Police.

Computers and technology: Residence hall rooms have ethernet data ports and wireless access that connects to the internet. Residence hall service is provided by Apogee Inc.

Custodial areas: Custodial service is provided for all common areas only. Cleaning of student rooms, suite bathrooms, apartments, and shared bathrooms in Willard Hall is the responsibility of the individual occupants who use those areas. Charges will be assessed for inordinate cleaning of public areas.

Damage assessment: Students are responsible for UMW property in their rooms and elsewhere in the residence hall. Charges may be assessed to an individual who is found responsible for property damage or a situation that requires excessive cleaning. If damage cannot be attributed to one person, the university may require residents to pay a prorated group charge to cover common area repair, replacement, reinstallation, and/or cleaning.

Dining: All residential students are required to have a meal plan. Students who fail to select a meal plan when submitting their housing contract will automatically receive a 225 block plan. For more information on UMW Dining Services, visit umwdining.com.

Entrance to student rooms: UMW reserves the right for its authorized representatives to enter the premises for housekeeping purposes; repair and maintenance; to determine occupancy and vacancies; health or safety reasons; to protect life, limb, or property; and to assure compliance with state, federal, or UMW regulations. UMW reserves the right to enter student rooms during breaks for maintenance, housekeeping, safety reasons, and to determine compliance with closing procedures.

Fire safety: Fire extinguishers, fire alarm systems, and other fire prevention and protection equipment are provided in UMW buildings as a safeguard for lives and property. UMW regulations and Virginia law prohibit sounding a false alarm or tampering with fire safety equipment.

Regular fire drills are held under the direction of Residence Life staff in conjunction with the Campus Fire Safety Officer. Residents MUST leave a building when a fire alarm sounds. Certain items are listed under Prohibited Items (p. 29) due to restrictions under fire safety regulations. UMW reserves the right to limit the amount of paper on walls, ceilings, windows, and doors for the purpose of fire safety.

Health and safety inspections will be conducted every semester to determine compliance with these policies.

Furnishings: Furnishings supplied in a residence hall room must remain in the assigned room; the moving of furniture into another room in a suite is prohibited. No furnishings located in residence hall common areas may be removed or moved into student rooms. A service charge of $35 per item to return furniture will be assessed. Stacking furniture or placing a bed on top of other furnishings constitutes a safety violation.

Limited additional furniture is permitted. Residents are held responsible for any damage caused by the moving of furniture, either in the apartment or common hallways. Inflatable furniture, bean bag chairs, exercise (i.e., treadmills) and recreational equipment (i.e., ping pong tables) are not permitted. Upholstered furniture must be fire retardant. Look for one or more of these fire retardant standards on identification tags:

- NFPA 701
- Class 1 of the U.S. Department of Commerce Commercial Standard 19153
- California Flammability Bulletin 117- ASTM E 84
- Upholstered Furniture Action Council (UFAC) (Gold Tag)

All upholstered furniture must be in good condition. Residence Life reserves the right to have a student remove any piece of furniture that presents a fire, health, or safety hazard.

Guests: Residents are responsible for guest conduct in the residence halls and may be held accountable for any misconduct. Guests should be escorted at all times.

Permission to have overnight guests is contingent upon the prior approval of all occupants of the living space and in conjunction with each residence hall's visitation policy, which is established by a vote of the residents. There is no overnight visitation, except for immediate relatives, in residence halls during the fall semester. No one guest may stay in a room more than three consecutive nights or more than 14 nights each semester.

Overnight guests are prohibited during break periods and other times when the halls are not officially open. Guests who visit traditional housing must be signed in at the front desk.

Hall council and self-determination: All residential students are members of the residence hall council. All residence halls have elected officials to discuss issues facing the building, develop programming, and address residential concerns.

Each semester, hall council coordinates votes to determine building-wide visitation and noise regulations.

Dues collected at the beginning of the year help fund programming and equipment for all members.

Heating and cooling: Centralized heating is controlled by energy efficient sensors that respond appropriately to outside temperature. Buildings with centralized cooling systems are controlled in the same fashion.

Housing and Dining Services Contract: All residence hall students are required to sign a contract to live on campus. The University of Mary Washington uses an electronic contracting process that allows students to execute their housing contract online. Although paper contracting is still available, students are encouraged to use electronic contracting.

*Please be advised, successful completion of the electronic or paper contracting process will result in a legally binding agreement between the student and the University of Mary Washington. Students who enter into a contract will not be permitted to cancel the agreement.

Lofts: Only twin-size lofts are permitted. Commercially available lofts are preferred. Lofts are not permitted in Russell Hall or the UMW Apartments. Bushnell, Custis, Marshall, and Virginia halls and Eagle Landing do not permit outside lofts, as they have "loftable" bed frames provided by UMW. Limited storage is available for bed frames for those who move beds to accommodate a loft in their room.

NOTE: Not all commercial lofts accommodate the extra-long mattresses provided in many UMW rooms.

Lounges: Lounges are provided for the use by all residents of a building. Residing and/or sleeping in a lounge is prohibited. Organizations may not reserve floor study lounges. The main lounge or parlor within a building, or the UMW Apartment Clubhouse and the Eagle Landing Rotunda may be reserved for use by contacting the building supervisor of that hall.

Microwave ovens: Microwaves are permitted in residence halls, UMW Apartment, and Eagle Landing kitchens only. Microwaves are prohibited in student rooms.

Noise: Though halls vote on specific "quiet hour" periods during which noise should not permeate the confines of a resident's room, noise from a resident's room should never be excessive nor risk disrupting the hall community.

Items producing sound should be kept on low volume at all times. Stereo speakers may not be placed on window sills and/or directed outside. Because of safety and noise regulations, sports are not permitted to be played in residence halls. Musical instruments are not to be played in residence halls unless the player uses headphones.

Personal property insurance: Students are responsible for the care and safety of their own personal property. UMW cannot be held liable for loss or damage to personal property. Students are urged to confirm whether their personal property is covered under their parents' homeowners insurance and make arrangements for additional insurance coverage if necessary.

Pets: Animals – living or dead – are not allowed in residence halls at any time, except fish contained in aquariums no larger than 10 gallons. Only one 10-gallon container per room or apartment is permitted.

Prohibited items (in addition to other policies):

ammunition	items that pose a danger to the UMW community animal carcasses	outside antenna
candles	non-UL approved appliances
chemicals or hazardous materials	pets (other than fish)
curtains and draperies	overstuffed or inflatable furniture
controlled substances	pyrotechnic devices
decorations covering more than 10 percent of wall and ceiling space	projectile firing devices
empty alcohol containers	space heaters
explosives	signs considered to be government property
extension cords (unless a multiple outlet type with a built-in fuse and surge protector)	tapestries fabric on walls	cooking equipment and appliances (The following are permitted to be used only in kitchen areas: microwave ovens, toasters, coffee machines, and hot pots with automatic shut-off mechanisms.) Cooking appliances may also not be left unattended.
fireworks
firearms and other weapons
flammable liquids	waterbeds
flame producing devices	switchblades or knives with blades over 5 inches long
halogen lamps	wireless internet routers
George Foreman-type grills	devices used to promote irresponsible drinking, including beer bong, funnels, balls, and/or beer pong tables
incense	drug paraphernalia
mopeds or other fuel-powered or motorized vehicles

Refrigerators: Personally-owned refrigerators that are 2 amps or 4.5-cubic-feet or less in size are permitted, providing they are UL approved. Only one refrigerator is permitted in a double or triple room and two are permitted in a quad. Locked refrigerators are not permitted unless approved by the Director of Residence Life or his or her designee. Only the full-sized refrigerator provided in each apartment kitchen is allowed in the UMW Apartments and Eagle Landing; no additional refrigerators are permitted.

Room Changes: Changes in room assignment must have prior approval from the Office of Residence Life. All students involved in an unauthorized room change will be assessed a $50 fine and are subject to disciplinary action. Applications for room change are available through the Office of Residence Life. Once approved, unless otherwise detailed, residents must remove all belongings from the room, turn in room keys, and complete a check-out with a Residence Life staff member. When moving into a new room, students must complete a new “Room Condition Inventory.”

Room Condition: Each resident is responsible for leaving his or her room space in the same or better condition than that in which it was found upon moving in, as stated on the “Room Condition Inventory” (RCI) completed at check-in. Charges will be assessed for repainting and refinishing; repair or replacement of damaged or missing furnishings and equipment; special cleaning made necessary by misuse of facilities; removal of any extra furniture, abandoned property, or large quantities of trash; or other unusual conditions requiring correction. Residents are responsible for notifying Residence Life staff immediately upon discovering any deteriorated or altered room conditions. Work orders may be filed by residents at eaglenet.umw.edu. Occupants are expected to keep their rooms clean and orderly at all times. Trash is to be placed in appropriate receptacles. Damage assessments will be conducted at the end of the spring semester by Facilities Services, and students will be charged for any damages not previously indicated on the RCI.

Room Keys: Keys are issued by the Residence Life staff upon a student’s signing into a residence hall; this is noted on the RCI and, upon check out, keys must be returned. If the key becomes lost or is not returned by the designated check-out time, locks will be changed at the students’ expense. Students are prohibited from placing their own locks on individual room and/or apartment doors. A key is considered UMW property and may not be given to another individual to use.

Storage: Storage space is not available for personal belongings or for the removal of university furnishings, other than for the bed frames and mattresses removed for those residents with prior approval for lofts.

Unauthorized areas: Students are not permitted in maintenance areas, boiler rooms, roofs, storage areas, custodial areas, or in rooms or UMW Apartment balconies without permission.

Additional UMW Apartment and Eagle Landing Notes:

Balconies and porches (UMW Apartments only): All apartments are equipped with either a balcony or porch area. For reasons of safety, no more than four people are permitted on a balcony at any one time.

Additionally, balconies and porches are to be kept orderly at all times and are not to be used as storage areas for personal belongings, such as laundry or trash. Grills, hammocks, futons, couches, bicycles, mattresses, and swings are not permitted on the balconies or porches. Residents shall not hang or display any flags, banners, signs, items of clothing, or household linens outside apartments from windows, doors, railings and porch roofs, or place such items on balconies and porches.

No university-provided furniture is permitted to be moved from the apartment to the balcony/porch.

Cooking: Care needs to be taken at all times while cooking. Appliances should not be left unattended or left on when the apartment is unoccupied.

Married student housing (UMW Apartments only): If a one bedroom or efficiency apartment is available, two currently enrolled full-time married students may elect to be assigned there during housing selection. Should an apartment become available during the year, a married couple on a waiting list may be housed in a one bedroom or efficiency apartment. Documentation of marriage is required. Children are not permitted to reside in the apartment complex.

Reassignment: The university reserves the right to change room assignments at its discretion, including, but not limited to, the right to reassign any resident of the University Apartments or Eagle Landing to traditional on-campus housing in the event of any violation of residential policies or because of other university policies or procedures.
